

I would like to file this complaint about Sinclair Broadcasting's plan to force their stations to air the smear documentary about John Kerry so close to the election. This is unprecedented. Not only does it not serve the public interest, it is against federal election law. Isn't the FCC suppose to protect the citizens against this?

This is another classic example of why we need to strengthen media ownership rules.

Thank you.